The WPP appoints its own advisers and service providers. WPP advisers or suppliers will be expected to only provide advice or services to the WPP once they have confirmed that they are not aware of any conflicts of interest or have clearly stated any known conflicts. All WPP advisers and service providers also have a professional responsibility to advise the WPP if any circumstances arise in which they are conflicted. The WPP notes that a number of its Advisors and Providers will have a guideline for dealing with conflicts as part of their membership of their respective professional bodies. The current list of key WPP advisers and service providers are as follows:
